Story Elements

Use a story map to tell about the characters, setting, and plot of a story.

The diagram consists of three circles at the top, each labeled "Character:". A central circle is labeled "Setting:". Lines connect the bottom of each "Character:" circle to the top of the "Setting:" circle. A vertical line connects the bottom of the "Setting:" circle to the top center of a large rounded rectangle labeled "Plot:". Inside the "Plot:" rectangle, there are three sections: "Event 1:" followed by two horizontal lines, "Event 2:" followed by two horizontal lines, and "Event 3:" followed by two horizontal lines.

 Use your story map to tell a partner a story about being part of a team.
