Monthly 2ndGrade Newsletter

This Month in 2nd Grade:

Reading: When students identify supporting evidence in a text, they are able to provide reasons for their opinions based upon information read, heard or interpreted visually. Acquiring this skill supports students in gaining a deeper understanding of the main idea or topic presented. While this is often a challenging skill to develop, it's importance cannot be underestimated as it is a lifelong one. Our focus this month will be to help students acquire/develop this skill.

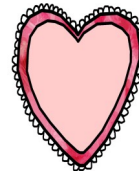

We jumping into money this month. Many of us use debit and credit cards as our main currency trade so often students don't understand how to count coins and use actual money. My suggestion is to get a container of some kind and put up to $2.00 change inside with various coins and ask your child to practice counting different amounts. Make sure you have 4 quarters five dimes, 6 nickels and 10 pennies. While cooking ask your child to count out a certain amount or give him/her a can with a price on it, check his/her work. We use fake money at school but using real money is more fun. Maybe as a reward, after many times of counting accurately; offer your child the chance to spend the $ at the Dollar Store, handling the money exchange with the cashier. Have fun with $ counting.

Writing and Expressing Our Opinions

Opinion writing is always so much fun! Most people enjoy sharing their ideas. By now, students should be writing papers that have 10 sentences or more about a topic using correct punctuation.

Please read the back of this newsletter for specific Valentines Day information. We are having a party!
