

Clock Mat

Teacher Directions:

This is a simple clock mat for students to practice drawing and telling time. It is perfect for small groups or centers.

Laminate it or put it in a sheet protector so that students can write on it with a dry erase marker.

For small group, tell students a time and have them draw it on the clock. Then, have them write it in digital form below.

For more of a center activity, have students choose a time strip and draw it on their clock then write it below or vice versa. They can work on JUST hour, half-hour, or written form or mix them for more of a challenge.
