Student April Lee

I would like to recognize AP Environmental Science student April Lee. As part of the class, students did a video project to come up with the solutions to the growing human population. She focused her video on the importance of biodiversity. Students submitted their videos to the World of 7 Billion Project, in order to hopefully win the project. April's video was selected from all the videos submitted from Washington State and she won the state prize, $25 to Amazon. 😊
