On beautiful sunny afternoons we LOVE going for walks around our neighborhood. To make our Wednesday walk more fun, we left with a list of things to find . . . it was a scavenger hunt! They found several of them more than one time and practiced observation skills and got exercise in the process! The toughest items were the sphere and the cat, but they persevered!

Here are some photos:

Our list! How many of these things can you find in YOUR neighborhood?

Here are a few of our scavenger hunt finds: American flag, octagon, a cat (We couldn't find a real cat, but Isaiah pointed out that lions are part of the cat family!), red bricks, rectangular prisms and purple flowers. We found everything on our list but didn't get pictures of them all.
