

Steve Thompson has been serving as the Willoughby-Eastlake Superintendent since 2011. Willoughby-Eastlake is Ohio's 19th (out of 614) largest school district serving approximately 8,633 students in six elementary schools, three middle schools, two high schools, two career academies and a special needs K-12 facility. He is responsible for the administration of a nearly $140 million budget and 1,035 employees.

Steve has previous experience as a superintendent with the Chagrin Falls Schools and the West Liberty-Salam Schools as well as experience as a high school principal, assistant principal, athletic director and teacher.

Steve is a former United States Marine and is a Doctoral Candidate, he holds a Masters of Education from the University of Toledo and Bachelors of Science degree from Heidelberg University.