Course Description

Chinese 3 is the intermediate course that aims to build learners' listening, reading, speaking and writing skills. The teaching and learning of the Chinese culture play an integral part of this course. Students will communicate and exchange information about familiar topics. Our tentative themes include my day, making friends, neighborhood, and travel. Themes are built to accommodate students' interests and progress.

Text and Materials

- Zhen Bang, Level 2 (2nd Edition)
- Character book, workbook, and online access to Zhen Bang
- Supplementary materials will be shared on Canvas.

Course Goals

Our goals are based on the World Languages standards – 5Cs. Students will develop different modes of communication skills (listening, reading, speaking, and writing) at the intermediate range proficiency level. Students will have opportunities to investigate and reflect on the three aspects of culture: products, practices, and perspectives. Students will make comparisons between Chinese language and culture and that of their own. Additionally, students make connections to the content in Chinese class to other disciplines and use the language within and beyond the school setting to participate in communities locally and around the world.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the first and second semesters of Chinese 3, students will be able to demonstrate their proficiency in interpretive, interpersonal, presentational, and intercultural communication at the intermediate-low level.

Attendance & Absence Policy

We follow the Henry M. Jackson High School's attendance policy. Attendance and participation are vital in learning a new language. Practicing with your peers and teachers in class will positively impact on your learning. If you need to be absent, please contact the attendance office to have it recorded as excused. Otherwise, it will be recorded as unexcused.

Late Work and Make up Work

It is important to complete all assigned work for this class. Please, do not ask for additional time on the day that the assignment is due. If you are not able to turn in your assignment in on the scheduled due date, you need to communicate with your teacher before the assignment is due to request additional time. This will give me time to help you if needed. If you were absent from a class, it is your responsibility to find out what you have missed from your teacher and/or peers. It is also important for you to check Canvas for missing worksheets or handouts. If you missed a quiz due to an excused absence, you need to make it up upon your return to class.

Academic Integrity

If you need help, please ask your teacher. You will be provided with support to succeed. We value intellectual honesty and personal truthfulness. Learning a new language is fun but at times can be challenging. All students expected to do their own work. We follow the Henry M. Jackson High School's academic integrity policy (Policy 3300 and Procedure 3300P).
